

Mark McClure Studio embraces bespoke surface design alongside public art, sculpture and gallery works, all in his bold, geometric style. Mark has exhibited widely both in the UK and Internationally. With a background in visual design and working with wood, paint and other materials – Mark collaborates with interior designers, architects and public bodies to bring the bold, geometric works to both private and public spaces.

The resulting works build on the idea of a graphic landscape - drawing on the structural shapes of the built environment and combine them with graphic motifs such as signage, letterforms, chevrons and other markings - resulting in a distilled visual language. Artworks created with this simplified palette of shapes and motifs reflect the architecture and shapes of the spaces they inhabit - with murals complementing and wrapping around the shapes that inspire them.
